How Not to Catch Cold.

People are more likely to catch cold in the back than they are generally aware of, and if neglected may prove a serious matter. The back, especially between the shoulders, should always be kept well covered, and never lean with your back against anything that is cold. Never sit with the back in a direct draught, and when warming it by the fire do not continue to keep the back exposed to the heat after it has become comfortably warm. To do so is debilitating.—Journal of Health.

Some mathematical expert has figured it out that to decently clothe the people of the world it would take 42,000,000 bales of cotton per year and if the people throughout the world wore as much cotton goods as the people in this country it would take 75,000,000 bales a year to clothe them. This year's production is about 12,000,000 bales.—Brenham Banner.

F. L. MUNDY.

The Cotton Muddle.

Many men of many minds, Many unions all combined, Lots of the boys dressed up so fine Rallying around the pumpkin' vine. Ain't it funny, to read the views Published in the Dallas News, Of men who have the cotton blues, Stalking round in brogan shoes.

The above doggeral rhyme to extent conveys the mind to the situation. Some are for Paul, some for Cephas, while some—just a few, are for, well I was going to say Christ, but to make it a little more tangible I'll say money, the almighty dollar. What is to become of the advancer if he cannot get a chance to advance. What would become of the poor devils if it wasn't for the moneyed man and what, echo says, what would become of the moneyed man if the man with the hoe quit getting in his licks. Who has the key to the solution? Even Col. Peters appears upon the scene with an honest confession and seems to say, I don't know the way out.

Fact is it appears to be a hard nut for even the philosophers to crack. As an anesthetic the president of Hardecrabble Union, to wit, ye Stoney, suggests thusly thus: 1st. Cut the acreage 1-2. 2nd. Fertilize heavy, (see Erambert of the firm of Erambert & King, for the amount of fert. to use). 3rd. Cultivate like the d—l, don't let any grass grow in or between the rows, and lets make a bumper crop—a record breaker of five cent cotton, then our boys can have pants as well as shirts to wear two Sundays in the week, 4th of July, twice a year and emancipation jubilee all the time.

Now, while the foregoing has smattering of mirth, we propose, seriously, to hold a seance and call up the spirit of Jack Moseley or Jack anybody else, and ask aint it a fact that the true policy of all people is the greatest good to the greatest number, and aint it a fact that high priced cotton makes high priced everything else, and aint it a fact that low priced goods are easier for the poor to reach than when higher.

These facts being admitted then I ask in all seriousness what course shall we pursue. Shall we strive to make the rich richer and the poor poorer, or shall we try to regulate the scales, the wheel of fortune so that all hands can get a grab. And, Jack, aint it a fact, that the world is financially crazy? Aint it a fact that every thing or nearly so is two high and especially is this the case in regard to wages. From the 50 thousand dollar salary of the president to the 5c. per pair the boot black gets. What we want is cheaper or lower prices, contented people and more harmony. Then we conclude by urging, make all the cotton we can, but make everything our farms will produce first and let cotton come in 2nd best.

STONEWALL No. 2.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Best Made.

"In my opinion Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best made for colds," says Mrs. Cora Walker, of Porterville, California. There is no doubt about its being the best. No other will cure a cold so quickly. No other is so sure a preventive of pneumonia. No other is so pleasant and safe to take. These are good reasons why it should be preferred to any other. The fact is that few people are satisfied with any other after having once used this remedy. For sale by W. J. Sedberry.

There are now 7400 names on the roll to receive pensions as Confederate veterans. Out of the $250,000 appropriated for the purpose they receive $3.00 per month, paid quarterly $9.00. It is probable that by the next apportionment to be made in April the list will be so increased that the appropriation will be reduced to $8.00 per

A Very Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman, of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitters, and after it, I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists. Price 50 cents.

It is said that the sum of $136,606,600 will be paid out during this month in dividends and interest by the leading railroad companies and industrial corporations and traction companies. This is $3,000,000,000 more than was paid out last January.

Saved From Terrible Death.

The family of Mrs. M. L. Bobbitt, of Bargerton, Tenn., saw her dying and were powerless to save her. The most skillful physicians and every remedy used, failed, while consumption was slowly but surely taking her life. In this terrible hour Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption turned despair into joy. The first bottle brought immediate relief and its continued use completely cured her. It's the most certain cure in the world for all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed Bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial Bottles Free at all Drug Stores.

POLITENESS.

It is said, and truthfully said, that politeness pays. If not at once it will eventually and perhaps, with compound interest. It was said of General Washington while riding in his carriage with a friend and they passed a negro man who lifted his hat to them. Washington did likewise to the negro. His friend said: "General do you raise your hat to a negro?" Washington replied. "I can't afford for a negro to be more polite than I am." That showed the true gentleman. A gentleman or lady will show what they are at all times and under all circumstances.

How easy it is to treat every one kindly and with due respect, and it is a pleasant remembrance of past conduct. A distinguished man, who was a non-believer, was going from church as an old woman was passing the church door and she fell on the ice and snow. He stepped quickly to her, lifted her up, and asked if she was hurt. She, with tears in her eye, said: "God bless you for caring for such a poor creature as me. God bless you." Soon after he applied for membership in the church. The minister was curious to know what part of his sermon had interested him. He said it was what that old woman, and her looks at the time that touched his heart and caused him to think. Thus you see kindness paid him more than compound interest—resulted, perhaps, in the salvation of his soul—

"Lit the deeds of kindness,
Little words of love
Make this earth an Eden,
Like the Heavens above.

How easy it is to be polite and. We feel better ourselves and make those around us feel better. Some people are affable and pleasant to all save those at home, and there they are as cross as a soreheaded bear and as snappish as a wolf. The place above all others they should be affectionate is in their own families, and yet it is the last place some people think it necessary to be affable and kind. The time will come when looking over the past, many will see the mistakes they have made, and with deep regret will say, "I wish I had acted differently." Now is the time to avoid all that sadness and those heart burning regrets. Be kind to all in the home, and especially, the aged, who are oppressed with the burden of years. Did I say, especially the old? Let me correct that, and let me say especially the children, for the old are more able to endure hardships than the children. Gain the ill-will of a child and you have an enemy for life, but gain its love and you have a friend for all time. There is the secret of the success of some people. They say give me the child till twelve years of age, and then you can have it. The eyes of the world are being turned in that direction, realizing the fact that the salvation of the country depends upon the young people. QUIS.

Diverting Immigration.

People who live in large cities will look upon this endeavor to distribute immigrants in the rural sections not as a mere industrial undertaking, but as probably the most valuable of all charitable endeavors. The present evil conditions of city life, largely brought about by congestion in slums whose members subsist on doles from the charitable, while rural communities are clamoring for workers, are as mischievous as they are amazing.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.
